

You all have no business forcing wireless companies to release cellular numbers to telemarketers. My agreement with my carrier almost 2 years ago promised that my number would not be released except to government agencies under court order. You need to fix this.